

M-CERSI “America’s Got Regulatory Science Talent” Competition

“Virtual-Visit” to FDA

James E. Polli

Shangraw/Noxell Professor
Dept. Pharmaceutical Sciences
University of Maryland, Baltimore

William E. Bentley

Robert E. Fischell Distinguished Chair
Director, Fischell Institute for Biomedical Devices
University of Maryland, College Park

UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND

Background

- 10th annual event held on Feb 4 2022
- To promote student interest in regulatory science – the science of developing new tools, standards and approaches to assess the safety, efficacy, quality and performance of FDA-regulated products
- Each team presents a proposed solution to a current problem in regulatory science that they identify
- Evaluation
 - Proposed solution: novelty and potential significance. Short-term feasibility is a plus, but not a requirement
 - Presentation quality: verbal communication, visual communication, impact of any AV materials or demonstrations, and Q&A responses

Top teams

- “AcetaSAFE” - Iulia Opran, Chenchu Vignesh Pernati, and Belinda Tamrakar
 - Developing a QR code on the acetaminophen OTC and prescription medications.
- Keeping Blood Glucose SweetNLow - Joanna Shaju, Rebecca Faulkner, Sumbel Malik, Ivan Jay Bauzon, and Sabrina Wang
 - Optimizing continuous glucose monitoring devices by incorporating patient-centered outcomes research prompts.

Thank you

- Thanks to FDA judges
 - Roberta Glass, Albert Rodriguez and Benjamin Sommerkorn
- Links
 - <https://cersi.umd.edu/news/story/mcersi-celebrates-10th-annual-regulatory-science-competition>
 - <https://news.pharmacy.umaryland.edu/m-cersi-celebrates-10th-annual-regulatory-science-competition/>

