

hydrocarbons? The Commission seeks information on the possible effects to a young child of a single acute exposure to an aerosol product containing petroleum distillates.

3. Should PPPA regulation extend only to petroleum distillates or should such regulation also extend to other hydrocarbons, such as benzene, toluene, xylene, turpentine, pine oil, and limonene?

4. Should restricted flow be an additional requirement for certain products?

VI. Additional Requests for Information

The Commission believes that information on the following issues would also be helpful as it considers whether child-resistant packaging should be required for the entire class of consumer products that present an aspiration hazard because they contain petroleum distillates or other hydrocarbons.

1. Chemical properties. Information concerning the chemical properties of individual consumer products that contain petroleum distillates or other hydrocarbons will be used to compare products that do not currently require child-resistant packaging with those that do. The Commission requests information about the form (e.g., liquid or aerosol), formulation (including the amount of each component), and viscosity of each product.

2. Users and use patterns. The Commission would like information about consumer use patterns for various types of products containing petroleum distillates or other hydrocarbons. The Commission requests information concerning: The intended use of the product (e.g., as a shoe waterproofer, carpet cleaner, upholstery spot remover); the location(s) where it is used (e.g., in a garage, a kitchen, a bathroom); the frequency of use (e.g., daily, monthly, seasonally); how long a package of the product is retained in the home (e.g., used just once or stored for long periods between uses); and the location(s) where it is stored when not in use. In addition, is the product used by consumers (more than occasionally) or is the product only used in the home by workers, such as repair or cleaning persons?

3. Current packaging and labeling. Information about the packaging of products that contain petroleum distillates will be used to assess the technical feasibility, practicability, and appropriateness of child-resistant packaging. The Commission requests information describing current packaging, such as packaging sizes, container material, closure material, closure design, and ASTM classification if the package is child-resistant. Information is also requested about whether the product has labels with warnings and instructions for use.

4. Economic information. Economic information will be used to evaluate the impact of requiring child-resistant packaging for all products containing petroleum distillates or other hydrocarbons. The Commission requests information about sales of these products and about the range of wholesale and retail prices. Further, the Commission seeks comments on the expected cost of providing child-resistant packaging for these products. In addition, the Commission requests information about the potential impact that such child-resistant packaging requirements would have on businesses, especially small businesses.

5. Incident information. Although the Commission monitors data on ingestions by young children of products that contain petroleum distillates and other hydrocarbons, the Commission seeks additional information about such poisoning incidents. This information will be used to assess the extent of injury from different product formulations. The Commission requests information concerning the details of scenarios resulting in poisoning incidents, and the outcome of the incident.

Comments should be mailed, preferably in five copies, to the Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207-0001, or delivered to the Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Room 502, 4330 East-West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814; telephone (301) 504-0800. All comments and submissions should be received no later than May 12, 1997.

VII. Trade Secret or Proprietary Information

Any person responding to this notice who believes that any information submitted is trade secret or proprietary should identify all such information at the time of submission. The Commission's staff will receive and handle such information confidentially and in accordance with section 6(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. 2055(a). Such information will not be placed in a public file and will not be made available to the public simply upon request. If the Commission receives a request for disclosure of the information or concludes that its disclosure is necessary to discharge the Commission's responsibilities, the Commission will inform the person who submitted the information and provide that person an opportunity to present additional information and views concerning the confidential nature of the information. 16 CFR 1015.18(b).

The Commission's staff will then make a determination of whether the information is trade secret or proprietary information that cannot be released. That determination will be made in accordance with applicable provisions of the CPSA; the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. 552b; 18 U.S.C. 1905; the Commission's procedural regulations at 16 CFR part 1015 governing protection and disclosure of information under provisions of FOIA; and relevant judicial interpretations. If any part of information that has been submitted with a claim that the information is a trade secret or proprietary is found to be disclosable, the person submitting the material will be notified in writing and given at least 10 calendar days from the receipt of the letter to seek judicial relief. 15 U.S.C. 2055(a) (5) and (6); 16 CFR 1015.19(b).
